

Debt Relief NW, Inc. (DRNWI) Privacy Policy

We acknowledge the importance of maintaining the confidentiality of the personal and financial information of visitors to our website, potential clients who are considering applying for enrollment in our programs, applicants for enrollment, current clients and former clients. We have established this Privacy Policy to ensure that our collection and use of such information preserves the privacy of these parties at all times, as set forth herein.

Online Privacy

DRNWI does not collect private Information from you unless you choose to provide it to us. When you transmit information to us via our website it is encrypted by the systems we employ to protect your confidentiality. We may collect, store and analyze anonymous information about visits to our website such as the time and duration of the visit, pages visited and order of pages visited. We will not share this provided information with third-party organizations for the purpose of them marketing to you or selling you their products or services. We will never sell this provided information for any purpose.

Information Collected

The nature of the information we collect will vary depending upon the nature of our relationship with you and the service you may ask us to provide. In general this information can include some or all of the following: name, email address, telephone numbers, residential address, income, expenses, assets, liabilities, credit card usage, creditors, current employment and employment history, salary, social security number, birth date, financial hardship and related circumstances, bank account information, liens, judgments, pending or active litigation, and other information we may reasonably require to provide the service(s) you request.

We receive some of this information from you directly in the process of discussing and explaining our debt settlement and debt consolidation programs and in completing your enrollment application. In addition we receive information from third parties such as creditors and collectors. We also maintain information about our transactions with you such as account balances, credit card usage, creditor claims, account settlements, payments, accounts receivable and payment histories.

We refer to all of the information described in this section as "Private Information."

Use Of Collected Information

DRNWI will not disclose personally identifiable Private Information to agents, representatives or other third-parties, except on a "need to know" basis to provide the service(s) you have requested. We will not share Private Information with third-party organizations for the purpose of them marketing to you or selling you their products or services. We will never sell Private Information for any purpose.

Updates to the DRNWI Privacy Policy

DRNWI may update the Privacy Policy from time to time in response to new concerns voiced by our clients or prospective clients, new legal requirements, or new goals and objectives of our company. We encourage you to visit this page periodically for such updates.
